

League Mourns Passing of Nancy Erickson

One of Founders, Incorporators of the League of Human Dignity;
First Director of Lincoln Center for Independent Living

Nancy Erickson

The League is mourning the death of one of our founders, Rev. Nancy Erickson, 76, of Lincoln. Nancy passed away on Sept. 25, 2022, after a short stay at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Lincoln.

Nancy was a charter member of the League, which was formed in 1971, and worked toward the organization's incorporation. She was an integral part of the League during its early days. She served three terms as President, and several more years on the League's executive committee. She led the League's Legislative Committee through most of the 1970s. In 1976, she was the League's representative at the White House Conference on Handicapped Individuals.

In 1980, the League became the first private, non-profit, consumer organization to receive federal funding to establish an Independent Living Center. Nancy assisted with the writing of the initial CIL grant, while she served as Planning Director of the United Way of Lincoln Lancaster County. She then was hired to direct the CIL, hire its first staff and lead the development of its programs. She held the position until 1985.

Nancy lived a life of service to others, advocating at the local, state and national levels for the rights of people with disabilities and others who need a helping hand. She earned a number of awards and honors for her work.

At the state level, Nancy also was appointed by Governors Jim Exon and Bob Kerry to serve on the Governor's Committee for the Employment of the Handicapped, as well as the Public Buildings Safety Advisory Committee, and the Nebraska Equal Opportunity Commission.

Nancy was born on Sept. 12, 1945, to Joseph and Dorothy Erickson. As a child, she lived on a farm between Wahoo and Ceresco, NE.

As the days get shorter and the air gets colder, we realize the season of Winter is upon us. Now we start to be prepared for winter weather driving. We make sure our tires on our cars are ready to tackle the challenges of snow and ice. We start dressing in our layers and setting up our supplies of snow shovels, ice melt and even snowblowers for combating the conditions unique to this time of year.

We need to realize that if it is hard to drive and walk on the ice and snow, it will be even harder for individuals who experience mobility impairment to navigate safely and easily. This is not only a concern for the disability world, it is a concern for all. Slips and falls can happen to anyone when the surface conditions are icy or snow packed. Plus, this runs the risk that a person could develop a disability as a result of falling.

Please make sure to adequately treat your sidewalks at your homes or businesses by removing snow and putting down chemicals or sand so that the surface is not hazardous and creates a slipping and/or falling risk. Also, make sure that curb cuts are cleared and treated as well. Winter is dreaded for many reasons, let's not make the additional burden of obstacles for individuals who have difficulties with mobility.

Please ensure that your sidewalks are cleared of snow and treated to ensure the safest conditions possible for all pedestrians.

Woman at Heart of Olmstead Decision has Died

Advocate, Artist Lois Curtis, 55, Passed Away at Home in Georgia

Lois Curtis, who was at the center of one of the most important disability rights cases in U.S. history, has died.

Curtis, 55, was lead plaintiff in Olmstead v. L.C., the case that led to the U.S. Supreme Court's landmark 1999 Olmstead Decision. She died of pancreatic cancer on Nov. 3, 2022, at her home near Atlanta, GA.

As a child, Curtis's cognitive and developmental disabilities made it difficult for her family to care for her. As a result, she spent nearly 20 years of her life in institutions. When she was 27 and a patient at a Georgia psychiatric hospital, a social worker and other staff believed she could benefit from a community-based program, but she was not eligible due to her hospitalization.

The state of Georgia refused to allow Curtis to move into her own home in the community. Her cause was taken up by Atlanta Legal Aid, which filed suit on her behalf and on behalf of a patient at another institution, Elaine Wilson.

A District Court in favor of the women, and the case eventually reached the Supreme Court. On June 22, 1999, Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg delivered the court's decision. Justices ruled 6-3 that the Americans with Disabilities Act prohibits segregation of people with disabilities in institutions when they are able and willing to be integrated in the community.

People with disabilities have a right to community-based, state-funded services.

The argument at the heart of the Olmstead decision is that people who live fully integrated in their community live better, more fulfilling lives – it's the same case the League of Human Dignity has made throughout our history and the driving force behind the Independent Living movement.

Following the decision, Curtis advocated for people with disabilities and discovered her talent as an artist.

In the lawsuits that followed the ruling nationwide, courts made it clear that the decision applies not only to psychiatric hospitals but to all state and Medicaid-funded institutions, as well as to people living in the community who are at risk of being institutionalized.

While there is still much work to do, the Olmstead Decision helps us see a future in which all Americans, regardless of disability, receive the support they need to be part of the community rather than segregated in institutions.

A celebration of Nancy's life was held Oct. 1, at First Plymouth Church.

Parking Benefit Aids Lincoln Non-Profits

This year's Cornhuskers football team may not have had the season fans would have liked, but true to their reputation as the best fans in the sport, they continued to show up, and are doing more good than they may know.

Each football season, the League of Human Dignity Membership Group sells parking spaces to fans on Husker home game days. This year the Membership will use the proceeds from the fundraiser to benefit four Lincoln organizations that help people in need.

The Membership is giving $500 to the League of Human Dignity's Lincoln Center for Independent Living, helping promote the full integration of people with disabilities into the community.

In addition, the Membership voted to donate $500 to Bridges to Hope.

Bridges to Hope offers services designed to help formerly incarcerated men and women to successfully transition back to life in the community.

At least $500 will go to the Food Bank of Lincoln. The mission of the Food Bank of Lincoln is to alleviate hunger in Southeast Nebraska.

The Membership will give $500 to Clinic With a Heart. The organization is a faith-based initiative that serves people who are uninsured or underinsured by providing healthcare free of charge.

Social Security Benefits Set to Increase in 2023

People who receive Social Security benefits can expect a raise starting in January — what amounts to the biggest Cost of Living Adjustment in 40 years.

About 70 million Americans will see a 8.7 percent increase in their Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments in 2023. On average, benefits will increase by more than $140 a month.

“Medicare premiums are going down and Social Security benefits are going up in 2023, which will give seniors more peace of mind and breathing room,” said Acting Social Security Commissioner Kilolo Kijakazi.

The raise is the result of an increase in the cost of living, as measured by the Department of Labor’s Consumer Price Index. The index rises when inflation increases. This change means prices for goods and services, on average, are higher. The cost-of-living adjustment in Social Security helps to offset these costs.

COLA notices have been mailed to recipients throughout December. Recipients also can go online to see their new benefit amount by using the Message Center in their “my Social Security” account.

“This year’s substantial Social Security cost-of-living adjustment is the first time in over a decade that Medicare premiums are not rising and shows that we can provide more support to older Americans who count on the benefits they have earned,” Kijakazi said.

January also marks other changes in Social Security, based on the increase in the national average wage index. The maximum amount of earnings subject to Social Security payroll tax in 2023 will rise to $160,200.

Also, the retirement earnings test exempt amount will rise to $21,240 a year or $1,770 a month in 2023. One dollar of Social Security benefits will be withheld for every $2 in earnings above the limit.

League Services Promote Independence

People with disabilities often face barriers to achieving and maintaining their independence.

The services provided by the League of Human Dignity’s four Centers for Independent Living in Nebraska and Southwest Iowa are designed to help them overcome those barriers.

Services provided by the League include:

- Individual and systems advocacy
- Information and referral
- Independent living skills training
- Peer counseling and support
- Transition from institutions to the community or from school to the next phase of life
- Training in personal assistant hiring and management
- Barrier removal grants
- Equipment loan and rental

The League has the experience and the expertise — we have been helping people achieve and maintain their independence since 1971.

Find out whether we can help you achieve or maintain your independence by calling 402-441-7871. Contact our offices at 1701 P Street in Lincoln, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, or call any of our other Centers for Independent Living, listed elsewhere in this newsletter.

Our Centers for Independent Living serve 43 Nebraska counties and eight counties in Southwest Iowa. We also serve all 93 Nebraska counties through the state’s Medicaid Waiver Program for adults who are aged or have disabilities.

The League is a statewide partner agency with Nebraska’s Aging and Disability Resource Center (ADRC). The ADRC is a state agency providing information, referral and assistance for accessing community services and long-term care options.

Medicare Premiums, Deductibles to Drop in 2023

CMS Announces Projected Costs for Parts A, B & D

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) is reducing premiums, deductibles, and coinsurance amounts for Medicare Parts A and B in 2023.

The standard Part B monthly premiums will be $164.90, a decrease of $5.20 from 2022. The annual deductible for all Medicare Part B beneficiaries is $226 in 2023, a decrease of $7 from 2022. The CMS announced the decreases on Sept. 27, 2022.

Medicare Part B covers physician services, outpatient hospital services, certain home health services, durable medical equipment, and certain other medical and health services not covered by Medicare Part A.

The decrease in the Part B premiums and deductible is largely due to lower-than-projected spending on the Alzheimer's drug Aduhelm other Part B items and services, CMS officials said.

The Medicare Part A deductible that beneficiaries will pay when admitted to the hospital will be $1,600 in 2023, an increase of $44 from 2022. The Part A inpatient hospital deductible covers beneficiaries' share of costs for the first 60 days of Medicare-covered inpatient hospital care in a benefit period.

Medicare Part A covers inpatient hospital, skilled nursing facility, and some home health care services. About 99 percent of Medicare beneficiaries do not have a Part A premium since they have at least 40 quarters of Medicare-covered employment.

The projected average Medicare Advantage premiums are expected to drop 8 percent in 2023, from $19.52 per month in 2022 to $18.

The average basic monthly premium for standard Medicare Part D coverage is projected to be approximately $31.50 in 2023 — a decrease of 1.8% from $32.08 in 2022.

The Medicare Part D program helps people with Medicare pay for brand-name and generic prescription drugs. Part D is one of Medicare's most popular programs, with more than 49 million beneficiaries enrolled.

Keep Sidewalks Clear, Passable This Winter

Winter is on the way and with it chances for snow and ice, making it harder for everyone to get around.

If you find it difficult walking through snow or on ice, imagine the difficulty for someone using a wheelchair, walker or other mobility device. The League reminds everyone to keep that in mind this winter and please keep your sidewalks and curb cuts clear and passable.

Sidewalks are a lifeline for people with disabilities and seniors. When snow or ice makes them impassable, that may prevent people from getting to work, to the store, or to the doctor. If someone using a wheelchair is forced into the street because of a blocked sidewalk, that puts them at the mercy of traffic and could become a matter of life or death.

This is more than an issue of good citizenship and neighborliness – it's also the law. Lincoln, Omaha, Council Bluffs, Norfolk, and most other cities and communities have ordinances that require snow removal on public sidewalks within a specified period of time. Fines may result for not abiding by the ordinances. Contact your local city government for more information on snow removal ordinances.
